Letters from absent comrades were read. These were from Col. Samuel Merrill, of La Crescenta, Cal.; Lieut, J. S. Parker, Paragould, Ark.; Charles F. Carter, Leominster, Mass.; H. Mendenhall, Galesburg, Ill.; William McElroy, Fredericksburg, O.; Dantel H. Merryman, Fair Grove, Mo., and Thomas Dixon, Mount Vernon, Ill.

Mrs. Mary Lord Harrison, widow of General Harrison, who had been invited to attend the reunion, expressed regret at the inability of herself and daughter to be present, and her letter was read. A letter from the Eighty-eighth Indiana Regimental Association, which was in session at Fort Wayne, was read. This regiment was in the same department of the army as the | Charles E. Belknap, Grand Rapids. Mich.

The reports of the committees followed the reading of the letters. The committee on place of next meeting decided that Greenwood Park should be the meeting place next year and another committee selected Senator Albert J. Beveridge as the orator. The memorial committee, which was composed of Maj. George W. Grubbs, of Martinsville; Dr. Frank H. Huron, of Danville: James Eades, of Indianapolis, and Lieut, James C. Bennett, of Shelbyville, reported eleven deaths among regimental members during the last year, and that there were yet about five hundred members of the regiment living in the several States between Maine and California. A MEMORIAL READ.

Among the deceased members was Gen. Benjamin Harrison, and concerning his death Major Grubbs presented a memorial, of the battery at that place. which was in part as follows:

The election of officers which preceded the closing of the session resulted as follows: Lieut, Col. Samuel Merrill, La Crescenta, Cal., president; Col. R. M. Smock, Indianapolis, first vice president; Dr. Reagan, Mooresville, second vice president; Dr. W. H. Farr, Paragon, Ind., secretary, and Robert W. Cathcart, Indianapolis, treasurer. One vice president from each of the ten companies composing the regiment were also selected. Members of the regiment were lavish in their praise of the manner in which they had been treated by the people residing in Greenwood and vicinity, and this fact, as much as that the park is about the geographical center of the district from which the original members of the regiment came, tables of statistics of the five largest cities was the cause of the selection of Greenwood Park as the meeting place next year.
